 - c. Technical and conforming corrections, which are being worked on by administration and legislative staff
4. RESERVE FUNDS: Return the $334 million, recently transferred from the General Fund to the Budget Reserve, back to the General Fund.

Updated Effective Dates for a December 20th Special Session

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

This cover page is a summary intended for general reference of the proposed dates. For effective dates on specific proposals please refer to the following detailed matrix.

Article 1 – Property Taxes

These proposals that were effective for taxes payable in 2017 would be effective for taxes payable in 2018. The exceptions are for homesteads for disabled veterans, refunds of mistakenly billed taxes, and agricultural containment facilities, which could still be accomplished for taxes payable in 2017. Provisions that were enacted effective the day following final enactment would keep the same effective date as well.

Article 2 – Aids and Credits

The property tax aids and credits the proposals that were effective for taxes and aids payable in 2017 would be effective in 2018. The exceptions in this article are for Local Government Aid, County Program Aid, and Riparian Protection Aid, which could remain effective for aids payable in 2017. For aids that were originally effective payable in 2018, those effective dates could remain the same as well. Provisions that were enacted effective the day following final enactment would keep the same effective date.

Article 3 – Income, Corporate and Estate Taxes

The proposals in article 3 that did not have retroactive effective dates would be effective one year later. The federal update would maintain the same retroactive effective date, as is the change to the recapture tax as it relates to eminent domain. Provisions that were enacted effective the day following final enactment would keep the same effective date.

Article 4 – Sales, Use and Excise Taxes

The proposals in article 4 that had an effective date window would retain the same effective dates. Some proposals effective after June 30 2016 would be effective one year later, while others would be administrable with earlier effective dates. Provisions that were enacted effective the day following final enactment would keep the same effective date.

Article 5 – Special Taxes

The effective dates for the proposals in article 5 would be effective one year later. The cigarette excise tax freeze and index repealer would be effective starting in 2017 rather than 2016, since official notice of the increase for next year has been released and the rate has been set.

Article 6, 7, 8 & 9 – Minerals, Local Development, Public Finance & IRRRB

The effective dates for the proposals in these articles would generally remain the same.

Article 10 - SFIA

The effective dates for these proposals would generally be effective one year later. Proposals that were enacted the day following final enactment would generally keep the same effective date.

Article 11 – DOR Policy and Technical Provisions

These miscellaneous proposals have various effective dates and while some would remain the same most have changes needed.

Articles 12, 13, 14, & 15 – DOR Policy and Technical Provisions cont'd

Proposals with retroactive effective dates or that were effective the day following final enactment would remain the same, proposals with prospective effective dates would generally be effective one year later.

Income, Corporate and Estate Taxes: Article 3, Section 3	Residency determination. Modifies both the statutory residency test and the domicile test under the individual income tax: The statutory residency test provides that an individual who maintains a permanent dwelling in Minnesota and is physically present in the state for 183 days or more in a calendar year is a resident for income tax purposes. This section provides that days spent in Minnesota by taxpayers who travel to the state primarily for the purposes of receiving medical treatment (for the taxpayer, spouse, or a dependent) do not count as Minnesota days. Requires travel to Minnesota for the treatment to have been claimed as a medical expense deduction on the income tax return for days to count as medical treatment days. The domicile test provides that an individual is a Minnesota resident for income tax purposes if the individual intends to make Minnesota his or her permanent home. DOR Miscellaneous: Article 15, Section 30	Erroneous refund statute of limitations. Define an “erroneous refund” and clarifies that DOR has 3½ years from the due date of the return to assess tax under a claim filed by a taxpayer, not two years after issuing a refund. This effectively reverses the Minnesota Supreme Court decision in Connexus Energy v. Commissioner of Revenue , 868 N.W.2d 234 (Minn. 2015).	Effective the day following final enactment and applies retroactively to all refunds, other than the refunds in the Connexus Energy case. The changes do not invalidate any assessments made before the effective date.	SAME
